ing if your child is well enough to go to s

every day is important for all school aged tamariki (children). It helps build their confidence and social skills, an education and life ambitions. This information helps you decide when it is okay to send your child to school, or keep your child at home and when you should contact your health professional for advice.

Send me to school if...

- has any mild symptoms enough to go to school, to go and get their
- ill
- rigid child who has mild symptoms (cough, headache or without fever)
- by fever and allergy symptoms (itchy nose or scratchy throat) or if they are not infectious, such as lice/lice
- positive for COVID-19 and they do not display any symptoms of concern.

Keep me home if...

- You should keep your child home from school if they are:
 - Too sick to learn and need time to rest and recover
 - Have symptoms of concern including fever, vomiting, diarrhoea, sore throat, skin infections such as school sores, a new rash or difficulty breathing
 - Have tested positive for COVID-19. More information on symptoms, testing and when it is safe to return to school can be found by searching the QR code.
 - Have an infectious illness and have been advised to stay home by their local public health team or their healthcare provider.

Call Doct

If you ever feel worried about your child's health, contact your healthcare provider.

You can also call Healthline on 0800 368 677 for health advice, treatment and info on what to do next. Emergency support available.

The guidance provided on this website also contains information to other urgent and non-urgent providers or services that can offer advice and care that you need.
